CTL Faculty Professional Learning Designer / Technologist

Diana Maughan is the Faculty Professional Learning Designer/Technologist in the Center for Teaching & Learning. She holds a Bachelor of Science in Business Education with an emphasis in Training and Development and a Masters of Education in Instructional Technology with an emphasis in Distance Education from Utah State University. Diana has been at DSU since 2017 where she served as the Assistant Director of Career Services for three years. In this role Diana facilitated the Cooperative Education program and developed the curriculum for approximately 300 students each semester along with the twenty faculty members mentoring these students.

Previously, Diana worked in Career Services at Utah State University as the Recruiting and Fair Coordinator. Between the two position she has planned and executed over 25 successful career events locally, statewide, as well as nationally. Diana joined the Center for Teaching & Learning July of 2020 bringing her highly developed skills in presenting and training to immediately help plan and execute the Hyflex Training for over 500 faculty and staff fall of 2020 in addition to creating and co-authoring a Hyflex Course for faculty.

She has presented at multiple conference including twice nationally at the American Association of Employers in Education and produced a webinar for the association at their request. In her role as adjunct faculty, she has taught several courses here at DSU and presented on Career Topics across campus as a Career Coach. In her current role, Diana presents technology workshops bi-monthly as well as provides one-on-one training for canvas, course development and more. In the time Diana has been at DSU she has had the opportunity to serve as president to the Utah Association of Employers in Education for two years, secretary to the Utah Higher Education Staff Association for two years and currently as a staff representative on the DSU- Utah Women Higher Education Network.

One of Diana's great joys is being a Certified Gallup Strength Coach for over 3 years providing one-on-one sessions coaching individuals on their strengths and how to maximize them. In addition, she has conducted workshops for DSU departments and in the private sector on developing team strengths.
